Pooja Aggarwal is the mother of 2 bright, strong, brave, kind daughters who keep her on her toes. She is a Speech-Language Pathologist, and an active member of her local, professional, and global communities. Pooja enjoys learning new things, hiking, spending time with her family, and taking on a good challenge. Pooja has a Master's degree in Speech Language Pathology from Columbia University. She is the founder, owner, and clinical director of Progressive Speech Therapy, a speech clinic focused on delivering best practices to maximize children's progress above everything else. Pooja lectures both locally and nationally regarding best practices for children with speech and language disorders.

She believes strongly in being an active member of the community from volunteering with local non-profits (e.g. Mobile Hope which helps at-risk youth move towards self-sufficiency), to professional volunteering with national non-profits (e.g. as the Volunteer Regional Outreach Coordinator for Apraxia Kids), and bridging local and global communities (e.g. Days for Girls Loudoun County chapter helping with health solutions for girls who would otherwise miss school in developing countries). Pooja has a reputation for being a challenge-loving nerd, persistent, honest, and loyal and is delighted to serve the HCA community as a member of the Board of Directors.
